INTER-MET DECLARES PREFERRED DIVIDEND

Metropolitan Company to-day declared a quarterly dividend of 11-4 per cent. n the preferred stock, payable Monday, July 2, to stockholders of record gloves who spat on Roger Bresnahan upon the closing of the transfer books during yesterday's baseball game at on June 18.

This information was placed before the board at their meeting, at which the dividend was declared:

The dividend was declared:

The dividend upon the stock of the Interborough Rapid-Transit Company at the rate of 9 per cent. per annum will furnish the funds required to pay the interest upon the collateral trust bonds of the Interborough-Metropolitan Company.

during Yesterday's baseball game at the Polo Grounds was to-day fined $10 by Magistrate Baker in the Harlem Court.

"It was worth the ten-spot," said the man, who is registered at the Hotel Somerset, Forty-seventh street and Broadway, as John Smith, of Pittsburg, as he paid the fine.

"Well, young man," said the Magis-of the Interborough-Metropolitan Company.

The quarterly dividend of 12-4 per cent, payable July 16, upon the stock of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company will bring into the treasury of the Interborough-Metropolitan Company 5740,741.75, an amount exceeding by $174,-140.50 the quarterly dividend of 11-4 per cent, on the outstanding preferred stock of the Interborough-Metropolitan Company.

"Well, voung man," said the Magistrate, "that was the most I could fine you under the charge. The law should permit a heavier fine for such as you." Smith repeatedly expectorated on the Giants' bench. When Bresnahan remonstrated with him he soit in the playor's face. Had not other players restrained Bresnahan he would have settled the case right there.

ley died of gas poisoning in the bottom of a shallow trench and what made him a hero was the fact that he sacrificed his life to the needs of his hungry, healthy family, at No. 115 Wyckoff street, Brooklyn.

An humble digger of ditches was Patrick O'Malley, tolling faithfully month in and month out, in heat and cold and dust and slime and foul cdors. It was locked, all the gas jets were turned on and everything about the room beto-dust and slime and foul odors. It was his work and perhaps he was as proud of a neatly executed, job as a poet or a painter is proud of a masterpiece.

He was assigned to-day to make a connection between an underground cable of the Edison Electric Company and a building at Washington avenue and B street, Wallabout Market. Another worked, with him.

Thy located their lines and began their ditch. As they delved the older of gae arose to meet them. The more earth they removed the stronger the odor became. Although dizz and sick, they worked steadily, knowing that if they gave in they would lose pay, 30 essential to the support of those dependent upon them.

O'Malley's companion gave in first. He citimbed out of the ditch and dropped unconscious on the street, his chest heaving as though the skin would burst, O'Malley, faithful to the last to his fart. By and his job, hung on until he works and slick were so plain that Coroner Lees decided

What a Bargain Here Means!

ORDINARILY a bargain is something cheap. Most always it's either damaged, out of style, past season or not becoming-merchandise that's a bargain because nobody wants it at

Now, with the Weavers and Manufacturers Department Store that is all changed. By an original and up-to-date method you can secure real bargains here.

Namely-We secure all the samples, surplus stocks, cancelled orders, slack-season production, goods the maker wants to realize money on quickly, &c. Through our agreement with the manufacturers, they eliminate all great losses, charging us absolute cost or a trifle less, turn the goods over quickly, and as they work six months ahead of the retail season, and as we reserve only a small margin of profit for ourselves, the result is a bargain-both economical, seasonable and desirable.
